LEWIS AND UMW PLEAD "NOT GUILTY"

STASSEN WINS IN NEBRASKA GOP PRIMARY

Virtually Assured Full Delegation at Convention; Dewey Finishes Second.

By The Associated Press

OMAHA, April 14—Tireless Harold E. Stassen lifted himself into the top rank of Republican presidential candidates today with a sweeping victory in Nebraska's GOP primary.

His clear-cut win clubbed Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York into political submission for the second week in a row. Dewey was shut out in the April 6 Wisconsin primary when Stassen won 19 of the state's 27 nominating votes.

The former Minnesota governor's victory bashed the prestige of Senator Robert A. Taft. It built new fires under the good-man-but-can't win theory that has dogged the Taft campaign.

It all but snuffed out the dying hopes of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's supporters.

But it left intact the darkhorse possibilities of Senator Arthur Vandenberg, secure in fourth place in a race he spurned.

The count in yesterday's free-for-all primary from 1,701 of the state's 2,024 precincts was: Stassen 68,129, Dewey 53,755, Taft 17,393, Vandenberg 7,504, MacArthur 5,742, Gov Earl Warren of California 1,484, and House Speaker Joseph Martin 783.

Solid Vote Virtually Assured

Along with his victory in the free-for-all popularity contest, Stassen wrapped up as a 41st birthday present the almost certain support of the state's 15 delegates on the first nominating ballot at Philadelphia.

The delegates are not bound by the popular vote, but most of the candidates said before the election that they would abide by the voters' wishes.

These convention delegates were elected in a primary that saw the Democrats choose a 12-vote delegation and give President Truman a pat on the back.

Mr. Truman, running unopposed, polled 24,099 votes in 1,114 precincts in the Democratic popularity contest. Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo), running solo for vice presidential endorsement, fell behind with 18,266 votes in 1,043 precincts.

Republicans renominated Senator Kenneth Wherry, acting GOP senate leader, and Gov. Val Peterson. Democrats gave a long lead to former Rep. Terry Carpenter for their senatorial nomination. Frank Sorrell was unopposed for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

But it was Stassen, the untiring young fellow from Minnesota, who rode off with the political glory in a state where he himself had thought the outcome so doubtful he made only cautious pre-vote predictions of victory.

Total Vote Estimates

The total vote in the primary seemed unlikely to exceed 210,000, with Republicans casting about 160,000 ballots and Democrats 50,000.

On the basis of the way they were running with a large share of the state's precincts in, Stassen's final lead over Dewey was expected to exceed 15,000.

Dewey made his best showing in Douglas county, which includes Omaha.

The count in 168 of Douglas county's 201 precincts was: Dewey 9,569, Stassen 7,144, Taft 2,876.

Stassen sent the Republican organization headed by Senator Hugh Butler (R-Neb) down to its worst defeat.

Taft, supported by the Butler group, never had a chance.

He trailed in all of the state's 93 counties. Stassen led in 80 of them and Dewey in 10. The other three counties were unheard of at that time (7:30 a. m.).

Taft's poor showing here may affect the outcome of the May 4 Ohio primary, where Stassen is trying to take some of the state's 53 delegates away from the Ohioan.

Oregon Outcome Crucial

Dewey and Stassen meet head-on in the May 21 Oregon primary. A loss for Dewey there like those in Wisconsin and Nebraska would put the New York governor almost wholly out of the presidential race.

But with a number of delegates already in his camp, Dewey still might have a heavy hand in naming the nominee.

ERIE CO. PRE-DRIVE BOND SALE $600,000

By The Associated Press

SANDUSKY, O., April 14—Erie county's test security bond campaign passed the $600,000 mark today amid preparations for opening the drive on a nation-wide basis.

President Truman was expected to laud the county's efforts in a radio address from Washington at 10:30 p. m. tonight. His speech will signal the formal start of the campaign throughout the county tomorrow.

Gov. Thomas J. Herbert and Edward F. Bartell, fiscal assistant secretary of the treasury, arranged to attend a celebration here today climaxing Erie's six-day drive.

The county was selected as a model for trying out selling methods and learning public reaction.

Ohio's goal of $175,000,000 in savings and other bonds was disclosed yesterday as Gov. Herbert proclaimed April 15 to June 30 as "the period for the security loan campaign."

ARRAIGNMENT SET

UPPER SANDUSKY, April 14—Paul Robert Clark and Raymond Edward Littell, the two Marion men indicted Monday by a Wyandot county grand jury in a card room robbery in Upper Sandusky April 1, are scheduled for arraignment before Common Pleas Judge Russell H. RAIN IN OHIO VALLEY SENDS RIVER HIGHER Hope Held for Little Damage as Rate of Rise Slackens Today.

Although heavy overnight rains pushed the Ohio river farther out of banks from Pittsburgh to beyond Louisville, a slackening in the rate of rise today gave people conversant with floods along the Ohio hope that there would be comparatively little damage.

So far the overflow has had no serious effect other than forcing residents of low areas on to higher ground. Flood conditions in areas bordering tributaries of the Ohio river were reported more serious, however.

A National Guard company was called out for flood duty at Manchester, O., with companies being alerted in several other Ohio river localities. Red Cross disaster units are going into action to provide relief throughout the area.

Spring floods were reported also in Florida, North Dakota and other scattered points.

In Marion county, schools at Prospect and New Bloomington were closed today as the Scioto river which reached flood stage again Sunday continued to rise. State Route 203 is still under water and sections of state route 95 were reported under water but passable.

Water Closes Two Schools in County

High water in the western part of the county forced the New Bloomington school to close yesterday and today the Prospect school closed because of water in the basement. Prospect school will remain closed until tomorrow, but how soon school can be resumed at New Bloomington couldn't be determined.

Route 203 between Prospect and Newmans was still closed by high water today. The road has been under water since Sunday.

Sections of route 95 near LaRue were under water today, but passable, the highway department said. The Scioto river has risen slightly since yesterday.

The Olentangy river in the eastern part of the county was reported going down at Claridon this morning.

Overnight Rains Add To Ohio River Rise

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, April 14—Heavy overnight rains pushed the Ohio river farther out of its banks from Pittsburgh to beyond Louisville, Ky., today, but rivermen hoped to get by with little damage.

The rate of rise slowed at several key points, and the water so far had done little but force people living in low areas to make their usual spring trips to high ground.

Conditions on some tributaries were more serious. Cynthia, Ky., on the south fork of the Licking river south of Cincinnati, suffered "great damage," Police Chief Leslie Miller reported. The water supply was shut off and 400 families were forced from their homes. Falmouth, where the South Fork

PAN-AMERICAN MEET RESUMES

Delegates at Bogota Conference Reseat Selves in Revolt Torn City.

By The Associated Press

BOGOTA, COLOMBIA, April 14—The 21-nation Pan-American conference resumes its work today in revolt-battered Bogota.

The conference was broken up five days ago by a bloody uprising which the Colombian government and U. S. Secretary of State George C. Marshall attributed to international communism. Delegates voted unanimously yesterday to resume sessions.

Agenda Hits at Reds

One of the first items on the conference agenda probably will be a resolution against communism in the western hemisphere.

(In London, the Moscow radio broadcast a Tass news agency dispatch which termed "absurd fabrications" what it said were rumors of participation of Soviet or Russian agents in the events in Bogota.

(In Balboa, C. Z., Donald L. Jackson (R-Calif.) said last night that the rioters were "Communist inspired and led." Jackson, a congressional observer at the conference, declared delegates had "an opportunity to see at first hand what happens when Communists move into positions of leadership."

(Jackson said he will report to congress tomorrow on the revolt.)

Cabinet Must Approve

Colombia's diplomatic relations with Russia are unclear. Yesterday a member of the presidential secretariat said the cabinet had not yet approved the decree for severing relations, as announced by the government radio the previous day.

Gunfire was heard outside the U. S. embassy last night immediately after it was announced the conference would continue. The nature of the shooting was not identified.

PLAN ON TRIESTE GETS RUSSIAN NO

By The Associated Press

LONDON, April 14—Russia has turned down the western power proposal to give Trieste back to Italy, Moscow radio announced last night.

A Soviet note terming the suggestion unacceptable was delivered to the governments of Britain, France and the United States yesterday, the broadcast said.

Foreign Minister Georges Bidault of France first brouched the idea publicly in a speech at Turin Italy, on March 21. It was hailed frankly at the time as a bid for anti-Communist support in the Italian elections next Sunday.

The proposal called for a Paris meeting of the powers principally concerned early in May to consider the future of Trieste.

Yesterday's Soviet note, the broadcast said, pointed out that Trieste was created a free city and territory by the Italian peace treaty, signed by 21 nations, including the Big Four. It said revision of the treaty by means of "correspondence or by convening private conferences" is unacceptable and violates "elemental principles of democracy."

The note was in response to formal U. S.-British-French suggestions on Trieste made to Russia in notes on March 20 and reiterated last Friday with an urgent request for action.

GOLDSBOROUGH STARTS TAKING OF TESTIMONY

Hearing Under Way After Refusal of Judge To Dismiss Contempt Citation.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 14—John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers today pleaded innocent of contempt of court in the coal strike.

Their formal plea of "not guilty" was made after District Judge T. Alan Goldsborough overruled a motion by Welly K. Hopkins, Lewis' attorney, to dismiss the contempt citation.

Hopkins cited the telegrams Lewis sent to idle miners Monday telling them to go back to work.

He argued they showed Lewis had complied with a court order served April 5 to call off the strike.

Lewis has insisted that he never called a strike—that it was a "voluntary cessation" of work.

Immediately after Lewis pleaded "not guilty," the government began presenting evidence.

Witnesses Listed

Government lawyers gave out a list of six witnesses, some of them obviously designed to show the seriousness of the coal strike during the last four weeks.

Two of the witnesses subpoenaed were John Owens, secretary-treasurer of the UMW, and William L. P. Burke, secretary to trustees of the miners' welfare fund.

The walkout was the result of a dispute over payment of pensions from the welfare fund. The fund comes from a 10 cents a ton royalty on coal mined.

The other government witnesses were W. H. Young, chief of the bituminous coal section, bureau of mines; V. Lewis Bassie, of the commerce department; Nelson Lee Smith, chairman of the federal power commission; Arthur H. Gas, director of the railway transport department of the office of defense transportation.

Lewis' back-to-work order of Monday followed an agreement granting $100 monthly pensions to miners over age 62. The miners were out for a week after the court order for Lewis to end the strike was served.

Lewis and Attorneys Arrive

Fourteen minutes before the trial hour, Lewis walked into the court room accompanied by eight attorneys and several United Mine Workers officials.

The bushy-browed UMW leader took a seat at the long counsel table some 20 feet in front of Judge Goldsborough's bench.

Lewis was dressed in his usual somber grey. He glanced sullenly about the court room as the judge's entrance was awaited.

About half of the 400,000 miners have gone back to work. Many were waiting to see how Lewis comes out in this second encounter with Goldsborough.

It was Goldsborough who fined Lewis $10,000 personally and the union $3,500,000 on Dec. 4, 1946, because they ignored a court order to end a strike. The fines were for contempt. The supreme court later cut the union's fine to $700,000.

A federal judge can impose almost any penalty, in fines or imprisonment, for contempt. There is no legal limit.

Documents Introduced

The government opened its case by introducing in evidence the various official documents in the coal strike.

First was President Truman's executive order setting up a board of inquiry under the national emergency provisions of the Taft-Hartley law.

Assistant Attorney General H. Graham Morison offered the inquiry board's report, which found that a letter from Lewis to the miners March 12 had been the cause of the coal stoppage March 15.

Hopkins objected to this document. He said the Taft-Hartley act prohibits such reports from containing any recommendations.

Morison countered that the report did not make any recommendation.

Goldsborough accepted the inquiry board's report.

The government also offered Mr. Truman's letter of April 3 directing the justice department to apply for a court order ending the strike.

First Witness Heard

The first witness was W. H. Young, chief of the bituminous coal section of the bureau of mines.

Young read off coal production figures in the period March 6 to April 3. The strike began March 15.

Hopkins jumped up and said

LIONS CLUB HEARS TALK ON RUSSIA

OWU History Professor Gives Address at Luncheon.

"Why Are We Fighting Russia?" was the subject of the talk given by Hastings Eells, professor of history at Ohio Wesleyan university in Delaware, at a meeting of the Marion Lions club Monday noon at Hotel Harding.

Professor Eells stressed five things which he believes would combat the threat of war. They are (1) understand communism, (2) reject any errors they make in communism, (3) overcome the idea of antagonism between classes of people in the United States, (4) emphasize our interests as being Americans, and (5) make a program which is better than the communistic program and sell it to ourselves and to Europe. He was introduced by Richard Probst, program chairman for the month.

A nominating committee for election of officers was named and is composed of past presidents of the club, John Lacey, chairman, Judge Edward J. Ruzzo, James Lytle, Walter Moore, John Gillis, Paul Frye, John Peacock and Cecil Gabler. Nominations will be announced May 17, election will be held June 7, and installation will be June 28.

Mercy Hall, Founded by Cancer-Fighting Nun, Views More Wonder Works Ahead with Faith

By E. L. PRIZER
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT, April 14—With only faith and determination to go on Sister Lorettamary Gibson founded a cancer hospital in a padlocked speakeasy in 1951.

Today Detroit's determined cancer fighter has built the hospital, Mercy hall, into a $500,000 institution.

That's only the beginning, she says.

Now she's helping pioneer a program that will set a pattern for the nation—a plan to help average families cope with cancer. In the face of a disease that kills more than 188,000 yearly, costs tremendous sums for treatment and has no sure cure, the job is overwhelming.

But Sister Gibson hasn't a doubt she will succeed. Her whole career has been full of events like this:

One hot summer day Mercy hall did not even have the few pennies needed to buy lemons to make lemonade for the patients.

Sister Gibson knelt and prayed.

"Within an hour," she says, "a lady stopped at the door and left a bag of lemons."

Gets Liberal Terms

Or take the time she bought a new clinic. Who would think of going to a real estate man and offering $150 down on a $75,000 building?

Sister Gibson did. The astounded broker asked time to think it over.

"But four days later he phoned and accepted," she says. "In two years the building was paid for."

Such audacity, coupled with invincible faith, has been behind almost every forward step for Mercy hall. Without an idea where the money would come from, Sister Gibson has increased the size of the hospital, purchased treatment equipment worth tens of thousands of dollars, set up an operating room recognized as one of the best in the country.

A plump, blue-eyed nurse, she works around the clock, managing the hospital and raising funds. She wears the dark blue robes of the Order of Sisters of Charity, but she's as tough as a two-fisted executive when it comes to getting things done.

"Ten per cent of those who come here to die walk out and go home," she says. "We allow no defeatism. Every case is treated as if it had never been diagnosed before."

From 6 to 60 Beds

Mercy hall is a homey place, painted in cheery colors, with large glass porches. Organ music is piped to the rooms. Patients are accepted regardless of race, creed or color. With its 60 beds it is a far cry from the six-bed treatment center Sister Gibson set up in the padlocked speakeasy which she rented 17 years ago.

This is headquarters now for the administration of the National Cancer foundation's new program in Illinois, Michigan, Indiana and Ohio. It's the first hospital to enter into the program.

Sister Gibson says the fact that 80 per cent of cancer cases die in poverty is proof that help is needed for middle class families stricken with the disease. That's the help the program aims to give.

It works this way:

Worthy advanced cancer patients in the four-state area are admitted to Mercy hall. They pay what they can. The foundation foots the rest of the bill with funds raised in the patients' home states. It's that simple.

$4,000,000 Plan

What it may do eventually for thousands of families who would go hopelessly into debt paying for treatment can't be estimated. A little nurse with a broad Irish chin is going to see that it does plenty. And if you're wondering how she can handle so much with only a 60-bed hospital, you're slow on the guess. She's already working on plans to build a new $4,000,000 hospital.

How to pay for it?

As she once told a board of commerce examiner:

"I bank in the bank of heaven."

DIGGING FOR GOLD. Equipped with rakes, shovels, pails and sifters, a swarm of treasure hunters dig into the sands at Highlands, New Jersey. The hunt for the "pirates' gold" was set off when a lobster fisherman discovered on the beach a rare coin of 18th Century vintage, worth $75. About 26 of the Portuguese doubloons were unearthed by the searchers.

DORCAS CIRCLE MEETS

Mrs. E. E. Ferry was hostess for a meeting of Dorcas Circle of Central Christian church Thursday afternoon at her home on North Prospect street. Mrs. H. J. Hartsell, chairman of the group, presided for the meeting and Mrs. George Pickering conducted devotions by reading the twelfth chapter of John and an article, "Sir, I Would See Jesus." The program consisted of group singing, a paper on "Religious Press" by Mrs. Delmar Dulin, a talk on "Missionary and Christian Literature" by Mrs. Pearl Crall, and a contest on the subject, "Our Pride and Joy In Our Church," led by Mrs. Ruth Lundquist. The hostess was assisted in serving refreshments by Mrs. W. C. Tucker and Mrs. Joe Mitchell.

Payhike Approved For Civil Service Workers

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 14—A pay raise for all government civil service workers and postal employes was approved yesterday by the house civil service committee.

The committee approved two separate bills. House and senate will have to pass the measures if the workers are to get the raise.

One bill provides for a raise of $468 a year for all civil service workers who are paid on a yearly basis. It carries a 25 cents an hour boost for those paid by the hour.

The other would give $585 a year raise to postmasters and postal service employes paid on a yearly basis; 30 cents an hour boost to those paid hourly rates.

The raises would go into effect on May 1 of this year and would expire on June 30, 1949, unless continued by congress.

BUCYRUS WEDDING

BUCYRUS—Marriage vows exchanged Saturday in Nazarene church united Miss Dorothy Irene Kalb of route 4 and Guy Richard Hamlin. The vows were solemnized by the Rev. Ernest B. Marsh at 2:30 o'clock. A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents. The couple are honeymooning at Niagara Falls.

Legion Auxiliary Schedules Events

A meeting of the auxiliary to Bird-McGinnis Post No. 162, American Legion, was held Monday night in the Legion Dugout on South High street. Announcement was made of future meetings and activities as follows: joint meeting with the post April 27 at which time the auxiliary will furnish the program with Mrs. Don Marquis in charge; sewing meeting Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. in he Legion clubrooms on East Center street at which time members will work on slippers which are being made for veterans in hospitals; poppy sale to be held May 14-15; and a benefit card party to be held Saturday, April 17, at 8 p. m. in the Dugout, Mrs. C. M. Rogers in charge.

Mrs. Don DeLong, president, appointed an auditing committee to be composed of Mrs. Robert Brown, chairman, Mrs. Noble Hoffman and Mrs. J. Albert Dripps. Plans were discussed for honoring the gold star mothers at the next business meeting, May 10. Members were asked to save all sales tax stamps, carpet rags and old silk hose to be sent to veterans' hospitals.

The Pinching Shoe

A FEDERAL court decision upholding the constitutionality of the non-Communist affidavit required by the Taft-Hartley act is on its way to the U.S. supreme court for a final test.

Meanwhile, it's interesting to note that this safeguard to keep Communists from enjoying the same privileges as non-Communists under the labor-management act of 1947 is working out pretty much as it was expected to. The squawks are coming from the people whose feet are pinched by the shoe.

Most labor leaders, being non-Communists, have no objection to saying so. A few non-Communist leaders who always are looking for a chance to martyrize themselves have used the non-Communist statement as a talking point in their perpetual campaigns of martyrdom. They have refused to make the statements as a matter of principle.

A good many others have refused to make the statements as a matter of personal security. They don't dare to swear they aren't Communists because they'd perjure themselves. To conceal their embarrassment they are howling to high heaven about their civil rights, their lawyers are howling and some of their deluded followers are howling—but not many.

A curious thing about the non-Communist affidavit is the fact that union members like it fine. For the first time since union leaders were given unrestricted monopoly rights under the New Deal, a working man or woman has a chance to find out who are and who aren't the Communists in the hierarchy of union leadership.

Coordinating the Hands

THE White House's 30-day freeze order on the sale of surplus war plants and their machine tools halts the government's process of demobilizing with one hand while the other feverishly counts our war potential. The order gives the munitions board a chance to tabulate surplus, take stock of its condition and ascertain how it fits into future defense needs.

At the war's end, the government had about 1,500 war plants, of which 1,200 have been disposed of. Some were sold under a security clause agreement requiring the purchaser to maintain the plant in condition for reconversion on four months' notice. Some were sold without that clause. Of the 300 remaining plants, 70 are subject to sale under the reconversion agreement. During the 30-day freeze, the board will insert the security clause in the sales terms of plants which it deems should be kept available.

Dismantling and outright sale have disposed of much of our war potential. The freeze order may save the board the embarrassing task of going to congress to ask for funds to replace plants already scrapped.

W.H.O.?

A NEW United Nations undertaking, the world health organization, came into being last week with ratification of its charter by the Ukraine, Mexico and Russia. The United States isn't a member. After membership had been unanimously approved by the senate and the house foreign affairs committee, a final house vote was blocked by five members of the rules committee.

The W.H.O.'s purpose will be a cooperative endeavor to check the spread of pestilence and improve the health of all nations. It is a type of work in which the United States, through the public health service, the Rockefeller Foundation and similar private endowments, has always been a leader. It is an endeavor in which the United States, by virtue of its pre-eminence in medical and scientific research, should continue to lead.

At present membership is blocked by five representatives with no specialized knowledge of the subject. If they continue to take advantage of their strategic position, they should make known their reasons for opposing W.H.O. membership. Otherwise they should allow the matter to be voted upon, as it has been in the senate.

For the Record

SOUTHERNERS complain that northerners are too prone to discredit such improvements as are made in the southern Negro's lot. They say that evidences of southern racial friction and the South's unfavorable reaction to the President's civil rights program make the headlines, while the healthy signs are passed over or minimized.

Well, just for the record, San Antonio Junior college in Texas has elected a Negro to its board of directors. Although Negroes constitute a minority in San Antonio, he won over a white opponent, white men counted the votes and white men installed him. Coming as it does from one of the deep South's citadels of segregation, this is a healthy sign and one deserving of note.

Did You Know

Government estimates indicate that the U.S. food supply is sufficient to provide 3,400 calories per capita at the retail level.

Herbert Hoover, Topic of Gossip Stories, All False.

SOME time ago, some gossip columnists were busy marrying off Herbert Hoover. For a while it was amusing, but soon it became a bore, particularly as their stories began to point to specific persons. Of course, there never was any truth in the accounts and such speculation on private matters is disgraceful.

Now, for two weeks, on the radio, Walter Winchell has referred to Herbert Hoover's ill health. Fortunately for Mr. Hoover, he has recovered from a case of shingles, which was publicly announced at the end of last summer when it hit him, after his long trips by airplane to Europe, Asia and South America. The shingles were unpleasant and for a time Mr. Hoover found it difficult to use his right arm, which had been affected. That was months ago, although Mr. Winchell just heard about it.

SOKOLSKY

As I have seen Mr. Hoover often during the period of illness, convolescence and recovery, I can speak of it. Even while he was troubled by the shingles, Mr. Hoover delivered three addresses to one of which he was accompanied not by a physician as was reported but by former Ambassador Hugh Gibson. The addresses, during that period, were to the Holland society, the Sons of the Revolution and at the Madison Square Garden. He also went fishing off Florida and caught some fish. He conducted the meetings of the Commission on the Organization of the executive branch of the government every month from Sept. 29 until three weeks ago. The next meeting is scheduled for the beginning of next week and Mr. Hoover expects to be there. All these meetings were held in Washington and some of them have been hectic. Mr. Hoover lives in New York and has publicly traveled to Washington and back.

Voluminous Writer

Mr. Hoover devotes himself to voluminous writing, for publication and for safekeeping. He does all his writing in long-hand, using a lead pencil. Nobody ever ghost-writes Mr. Hoover's speeches or articles and although I have come across some liars and boasters who have claimed that honor, the story is never true. He uses his right hand for such purposes.

At any rate, I have been with Mr. Hoover often during the past year. I have read some of the manuscripts. In a word, the shingles did not permanently injure Mr. Hoover's right arm. In fact, recently when I dined with him, I insisted upon shaking his right hand for the fun of it and perhaps as a protest against the tales that were passing currently in New York's expensive saloons and vulgar bistros.

I am sure that Mr. Winchell is solicitous of the ex-president's health and that he wishes him well, and that Mr. Hoover is grateful for the solicitude, which comes months too late. Each time Mr. Winchell shows his deep concern thousands of friends telephone and send messages of good cheer. It would have been simpler for Mr. Winchell to telephone to Mr. Hoover or even to consult the editor and publisher of his newspaper, "The New York Mirror," who have ready access to Mr. Hoover. This is a story which could easily have been confirmed —cost, one nickel. Certainly, it has no news value and no radio value nearly nine months late and fully three months after Mr. Hoover's complete recovery.

Tireless Worker

Of course, anything can happen and when it is said that a man of 73 is ill, it is possible. If the story is repeated often enough, that the day will come when he may be ill. But Herbert Hoover seems to be unusually robust these days—somewhat greyer, somewhat thinner, but working extraordinarily hard.

As a matter of fact, his friends who are with him often, are astonished that at his age he keeps going as he does. Like Bernard Baruch and Jesse Jones, he seems not to tire. The Winchell reports have caused some to fear that Mr. Hoover has suffered a stroke. I can assure them that there is no truth in that.

This is my report on a very dear friend. I hope that Walter Winchell will accept this report. He ought, after so many years of reporting, to be able to confirm the facts of a situation that seems so vital to him.

Dark Horsemanship

By RAYMOND MOLEY

NO ONE can know the infinite variety of John L. Lewis and doubt for a minute that he decided to take Speaker Joe Martin out of the dark-horse stable and show him to the country. Things like a grand settlement of the coal controversy in the speaker's office do not just happen. Lewis makes such decisions with great care, and they can very often be fitted into a political pattern. It was that way just before the election in 1946, when Lewis blasted at Secretary Krug and when the Truman administration was in the throes of losing congress.

MOLEY

A belief that it was Lewis, not Martin, who was responsible for the settlement is based on the obvious circumstances. Lewis was determined that Truman would make no political comeback by bringing the law down upon him. Therefore, he decided to give the credit for a settlement to a Republican.

Among the various candidates, Martin was the most logical. Dewey, several years ago, attacked Lewis in connection with his District 30 union. And in any event, this was no matter for a governor. Stassen is a private citizen. Taft, as author of the Taft-Hartley act, is anathema to Lewis. That eliminates three candidates. Martin is the highest ranking official, next to the President. He is an agreeable man, the kind Lewis loves.

A Coincidence

A well-known Republican leader, who favors Martin for the nomination left New York Wednesday for Washington. He planned to see Lewis. The settlement took place Saturday. There is good reason to believe that this friend of Lewis and Martin had a big hand in the arrangements.

In any event, Martin now becomes a horse of another color. He is not so dark as he was.

And his candidacy is formidable. It is favored by the fact that Stassen may, by convention time, move up to a delegate strength which can, with Taft's help, deadlock the convention. In such a stalemate, delegates are on their own. The politically wise and well-known congressmen and senators who will probably constitute nearly a third of the convention will be extremely powerful in a final choice. And Martin is very popular in congress.

Shows Strength In Poll

Evidence of this is contained in a poll of Republican house members, taken last week. Among the first choices of these congressmen, Taft leads, with 29; Dewey is next, with 25; and Martin has 18. But in second choices, Martin is well in the lead.

The interesting fact in this poll is the relative weakness of Vandenberg. He ranks sixth in first choices and fourth in second choices.

Martin might well be the beneficiary in the convention of such favorite-son delegations as Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and Illinois.

Moreover, in a convention in which the prospects for victory are bright, the possible weakness of Martin as a campaigner and as a constructive thinker would be discounted. He is known as a shrewd manager of men, a fair-minded man, a loyal party member and a nationally known figure. His popularity with John L. Lewis will hurt among the fastidious. But the nominee of a deadlocked convention is not chosen with an eye to the more critical voter. Martin now becomes an important factor in the race.

Daily Bible Thought

If our faith is a living one we surely will grow. Dead philosophies do not grow. We can demonstrate the excellence of the way by travelling over it.—II Peter 3:18: Grow in grace, and in the knowledge of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ.

Just a Minute

By Jack Tarver

Grass Doesn't Grow On a Busy Street?

An Irish scientist has just completed a survey which proves, at least to Jim Farley's satisfaction, that men with the least hair are the most intelligent.

Well, snatch me bald and call me Brainy.

That's a blow to the hair-topic trust.

Is Einstein the exception that proves the rule . . .or the classic example of the wig-maker's art?

If the survey is correct, bald-headed men are twice blessed, having not only more brains, but also less dandruff.

Moreover, their knowledge is more apt to be of the pertinent variety . . . and not a lot of unimportant stuff they overhear in barbershops.

Incidentally, this is good news for Truman. He can recruit himself a brain trust from the front row at Minsky's.

Jobs for GI's

More than 1,500,000 returning veterans got jobs in 1947, running the total of employed World War II veterans to 12,250,000—but half a million are still looking for jobs.

This was announced by Perry Faulkner, chief of the Veterans Employment Service.

"About 9 out of 10 veterans are now gainfully employed," Mr. Faulkner reported.

But Mr. Faulkner said the country still had the task of finding jobs for 500,000.

And also these tasks:

1. Finding jobs, later, for more than 1,000,000 veterans who are in schools and colleges. Mr. Faulkner said the country had "a special obligation" to those men, since it was spending a great deal of money on their education and should see that they found work where they could make the maximum contribution to the public welfare.

2. Finding jobs, soon, for several hundred thousand veterans who were not classed as "unemployed" because they were not yet looking for jobs.

The day is always his who works in it with sincerity and great aims. Emerson.

Time To Smoke Him Out

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Thursday, April 14, 1938.

Britain tinkered at the machinery of diplomacy and war preparedness apparently in an effort to use French, American and Italian cooperation as a brake on geared-up Germany.

Death of Samuel C. Smith, 75, in Denver, Colo., followed four days after that of his brother, Morrillo G. Smith, 77, of Upper Sandusky and marked the passing of one generation of a Marion county family.

Miss Mary Curran died at her home on Windsor street.

T. E. Andrews was named chairman and Commander Francis S. Layton, commander of Cooper Post No. 117, G.A.R., was named president of the day at a meeting of representatives of patriotic, civic and service groups and individuals planning the observance of Memorial day.

Members of the Marion Council of Jewish Women entertained with a luncheon at Hotel Harding in honor of Mrs. Oscar S. Marx of Mt. Carmel, Ill., third vice president of the national council.

Miss Grace Colvin, visiting teacher of the city schools, gave a talk on "The Home's Responsibility to the Child" at a meeting of the Marion Council of the Parent-Teacher association.

Mrs. Homer Walters was elected president of the Woman's Missionary society of Emmanuel Baptist church at a meeting held in the home of Mrs. Ray Mason of Fairview street.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Saturday, April 14, 1928.

Thirty-four persons were killed when a gasoline explosion wrecked a dance hall at West Plains, Mo.

Announcement was made that the annual campaign for the Boy Scouts and the YMCA would start April 24 with the goal set $25,940. This included funds for improvement and added equipment for the boys' camp. Jesse H. Mason, superintendent of schools, was campaign chairman.

Will Rogers in his weekly letter told of a visit to Indiana and proposed that George Ade, famous humorist, be elected governor of the state.

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Gillson of South High street and Joe Patten of Ashland returned from a motor trip to Boone, Ia., where they visited Earl Patten, brother of Mrs. Gillson and Mr. Patten.

Miss Alice Sneckenberger, Miss Evalona McKinley and Miss Sophia Mack returned from Columbus, where they attended the Ohio State Educational conference.

Miss Hulda A. Creasap and Logan T. Hildreth, both of Marion, were united in marriage by Dr. B. L. George, pastor of Epworth M. E. church.

A surprise party was given at the home of Mrs. Carl Prettyman on Merkle avenue in honor of her sister Miss Orpha Price, on her birthday anniversary.

Miss Marjorie Nufer of Caledonia and Preston J. Hord of north of Marion were united in marriage by Dr. B. L. George at Epworth M. E. parsonage.

Come Home, Mr. Benton

By Frank Tripp

MR. TRUMAN said that sending potential war materials to Russia was shipping to a friendly nation; that some of it had been ordered two years ago. Which made it all right, he thought.

A week before that classic alibi from our head man, a Republican congressman said we had promised these things to Russia and we should keep our word.

My father once promised me a rifle—which he repossessed and locked up, after I had shot a neighbor's cat.

TRIPP

A few days preceding these amazing Washington pronouncements 13 locomotives were shipped from an Army holding point six miles from my house —destined to Finland.

A reporter dug up the story and observed in connection with it that Finland is dangerously close to Russia both geographically and dictatorially. After the story came out it was revealed that 46 Russian type locomotives have been thus sold and some shipped. Shipment of the remainder has been held up "pending investigation."

Shortly we began to hear about millions worth of war excess going to Stalin and his dominated sphere, including bomber plane engines, bought with Americans' war bond savings. Never promised, not under two-year-old orders; but with the knowledge and consent of agencies now getting set for war with those who received them.

William Benton of the State Department—one of "25,000"—by Mr. Truman's appointment, heads a 29 member U. S. commission now attending a United Nations Freedom of Information Conference in Geneva, Switzerland.

This is to suggest that the commission might well have held some dress rehearsals in Washington and gone to Geneva with clean noses.

This column and plenty of other writers and journals of the supposed free and informed American press have been pounding away for months for freedom of information at home. A kind that would let you know what is going on.

Mr. Benton's parting word, as he let for Geneva was: "The goal of the American delegation must be to lay a cornerstone for an ultimate broad world acceptance of the fact that freedom of information is the keystone of democracy and thus of peace."

I want to ask every uneasy American who reads this, just one question:

What kind of freedom of information have you had when men to whom you entrusted your ship of state seek your billions and conscription of your sons to defend you against a "friendly" nation to which they have permitted to be shipped materials, and even weapons, which may be used to destroy you?

Just how far do such acts fall short of being treason-by-negligence?

Had these things been known to the people long ago they would not have happened. The damnable secrecy which shrouds and sanctifies the deeds of the clique of Washington spendthrifts forms an iron curtain as dangerous as any that Russia ever dropped.

Again the importance of our press comes home to us. But that it is free is not enough.

It is free to speak, yet cannot speak what it does not know. It can dig and pry and will, in time, unearth the truth. Sometimes the truth comes late. God grant that the recent sickening truths have dawned in time.

We send commissions to Geneva. We blast Europe with radio pleas that the people shake off the fetters of secret government. Meantime we are victims of the very secrecy which we condemn. What must be Joe Stalin's biggest laugh, to us is tragic.

Many of our national ills would never be if they could not fester in the dark. A few men take it upon themselves to be judges of all things.

They only go back to the people for money and for votes. Relatively few are schooled in their tasks. Most of them are political choices. Many move from post to post according to party loyalty or their financial needs. They dominate vital functions of which they know nothing. They puff all up with prominence and title.

The inspiration and guidance which could make them really great are back among the people from whom they hide their acts. Instead they guide each other, the blind leading the blind, into deep waters—and drag us with them.

True democracy requires that the governed know the course they pursue in times of peace. Only in war is there excuse for the kind of secrecy which has brought us to our present world plight.

The pressure of public opinion is great. It can only be safe pressure when the people are informed. Those who fear or distrust informed public opinion or withhold the truth from the people are not fit to hold public trust.

Come back home, Mr. Benton —till we clean up our own doorstep.

ITALIAN PAPER SEES RED DEFEAT IN VOTE

By The Associated Press

ROME, April 14—The authoritative morning newspaper Il Messaggero predicted today that Premier Alcide De Gasperi's Christian Democrats would finish well ahead of the Communists in Sunday's elections. The paper said there is no doubt of it.

Although rightist in its sympathies, Il Messaggero has maintained strict impartiality in its news columns through the campaign, printing speeches of all candidates. In that policy it has been almost alone among Rome papers.

Communists heckled and shouted at De Gasperi yesterday in Milan and there were fist fights and cracked heads as police moved into the crowd, swinging clubs.

Late last night a caravan of trucks and buses taking Christian Democrats home from the Milan meeting was stoned by leftists near San Giuliano Milanese. Two persons were hurt seriously, 20 suffered minor injuries. There also were disorders at Pesaro, Bologna and Venice.

Italy's north is predominantly leftist.

FLOOD

Flash floods on creeks and small rivers chased out numerous families in villages in many parts of the valley. However, in many cases, the water already had gone down today and the people had returned to their homes.

U. S. meteorologist J. Cecil Alter forecast a stage of 58 to 59 feet here by late today but still refused to predict a probable crest because of rising stages as far upriver as Wheeling, W. Va.

Build Levee At Portsmouth

At Portsmouth, O., U. S. engineers began building a two-foot levee 1,000 feet long at the east end of the partly completed 77-foot floodwall. The levee, with sandbags and other emergency measures which may become necessary, will protect the city and its suburb, New Boston, to 64 feet.

The Ohio at Portsmouth was nearly four feet above the 50-foot flood stage this morning, but river men expressed hope that it would crest short of 60 feet.

Farther upstream Ironton was snug behind a 73-foot wall, although about 30 families were moved out of their homes in neighboring villages.

Marietta was probably the weltest city on the river. A crest of 44 feet, eight feet above flood stage, was expected tomorrow. Front street merchants moved out as usual, and cots and food were placed in the city equipment building for refugees.

Floods Hit Other Areas

A five-state Ohio river valley area today was the focal point of widespread spring floods which also spilled into some Florida and North Dakota lowlands.

Experiencing its first major flood since March, 1945, the serpentine Ohio was 10 feet above flood stage in some areas and rising steadily throughout the 500-mile stretch.

Florida's state capital, Tallahassee, was isolated from Peninsular Florida except by air or roundabout routes through southern Georgia. Branford, Fla., was hardest hit when the meandering Suwannee river left its banks.

An estimated 1,000 families were evacuated in the Ohio river area — Kentucky, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Indiana and Ohio. Nearly 100 families were forced from their homes in Grand Forks, N. D., and nearby East Grand Forks, Minn., when the Red river crested at 40.70 feet, 12.70 feet above flood level. National Guardsmen dynamited ice jams there to save bridges. Grand Forks' power plant was out of order.

Red Cross disaster workers said thousands in the Ohio valley would be homeless unless streams crest swiftly. River experts refused to predict a crest until near-continuous rains, now in their third day, come to a halt.

Guard Company Called

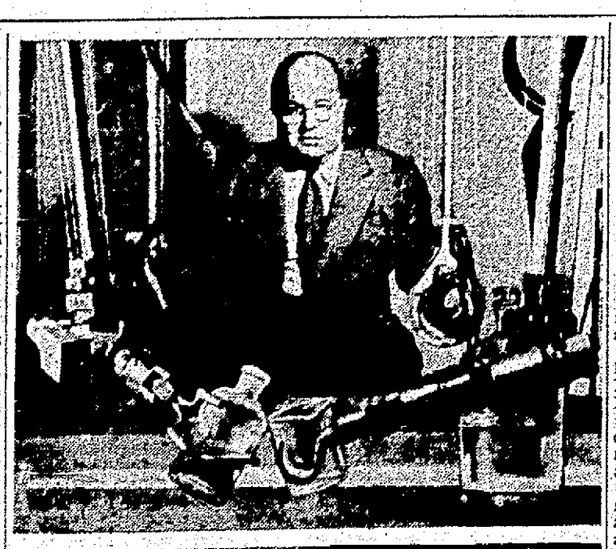
Adj. Gen. Chester W. Goble today ordered a company of the National Guard to take up flood duties at Manchester, on the Ohio river.

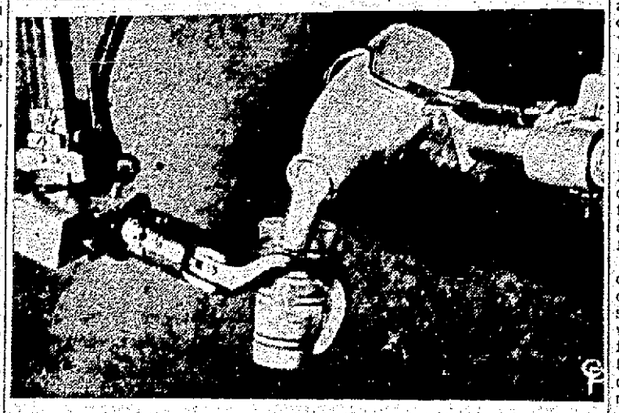
The order went to headquarters company, Second battalion, of the 147th Infantry, at Manchester. The company includes two trucks, three officers, and 65 men under the command of Capt. Earl C. Downey.

National Guard units were alerted at Marietta, O., Parkersburg, W. Va., and Jeffersonville, New Albany and Evansville, Ind.

At Washington, Red Cross eastern area headquarters announced it was sending 20 disaster workers to areas facing major flood threats.

The Army and Coast Guard sent cots, blankets and additional workers.





"ROBOT HANDS" FOR EMERGENCIES. Developed for use in radioactive areas are these remarkably agile mechanical hands invented by John Payne, a General Electric scientist. Capable of doing almost anything human hands can do, they can be extended over a wall into a radioactive zone, while the operator remains protected. Hughes Deals Tagged Shady Negotiations of Plane Builder with Gen. Meyers Corrupt, Solons Report.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 14 — A report to congress today labeled as "obviously corrupt" the wartime negotiations between millionaire plane builder Howard Hughes and Maj. Gen Bennett E. Meyers.

The senate war investigating committee which drafted the document called for a law to deal with any future case of the kind.

It said such a law should demand that both private citizens and officials "report promptly all attempts at bribery, extortion, or other corrupt acts in connection with the negotiation of government business."

The final report of the seven year old committee once headed by President Truman covers the group's sensation-packed hearings of last year.

These began as an inquiry into Hughes' plane contracts but later centered around the wartime activities of Meyers as No. 2 purchasing officer for the Army air forces.

As a result of the committee's disclosures, Meyers was convicted of inducing a former business associate to lie to the senators. He was sentenced to 20 months to five years on that charge and still faces two income tax fraud indictments—and possibly a court martial.

Findings Listed

A copy of the document already sent to the government printing office was made available to a reporter. It includes these other findings and recommendations:

►That War Department and Army air force leaders failed to conduct an adequate investigation into previous charges against Meyers and later "deliberately tried to conceal" facts from the senate committee.

►That all future inquiries into "corrupt or improper activities" on the part of Air Force, Army, Navy or other officers be conducted by a separate agency to avoid "a tendency to cover up or white wash" cases involving officers of high rank.

►That the Hughes Tool company, in which Hughes holds all the stock, faces a possible "tax deficiency" for 1940-46 of almost $8,500,000 although these "preliminary determinations" are subject to review both by the Bureau of Internal Revenue and the courts.

►That John W. Meyer, free-spending public relations man for Hughes, paid expense accounts totaling $189,661 during the five war years in an attempt to win favor of air force and other officials handling contracts.

►That all such costs be "disallowed in computing federal income taxes."

►That the "draft deferments of John Meyer should be fully investigated by the Department of Justice.

Russians Stay Away From Crash Inquiry

By The Associated Press

BERLIN, April 14—A British-Russian investigation of the fatal crash of a British and Soviet plane April 5 was abandoned today when Russians on the investigating commission failed to appear.

The investigation was doomed yesterday when the Russians refused to hear German and American witnesses.

After waiting 15 minutes for the Russians, the British proceeded with their own inquiry.

The Russians forecast today that a separate currency reform will be instituted soon for western Germany. They blamed the western allies for faliure to reach a four-power agreement on this issue.

STASSEN

night at his south St. Paul, Minn., home without being sure of his victory, promised a statement later in the day.

Fred Seaton, his Nebraska campaign manager, said the voters here had "joined Wisconsin and Minnesota in supporting a progressive, frank candidate who will lead the Republican party to victory in the election of November, 1948."

Campaigning mostly by bus, Stassen visited virtually every part of Nebraska. Dewey, who spent three days here, often drew larger crowds.

Taft was aided in his personal Nebraska campaigning by Mrs. Taft.

Dewey Takes Cheerful View of Result

By The Associated Press

ALBANY, N. Y., April 14—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey said today he was "heartened" by his showing in the Nebraska Republican primary, in which he finished second to Harold E. Stassen.

Dewey's executive assistant, James C. Hagerty, indicated Dewey would continue his campaign for the Republican presidential nomination by making a trip to Oregon before that state's May 21 primary.

Disappointment Voiced By Senator Taft

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 14—Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said today he is "disappointed" about the results of Nebraska's "popularity poll" primary.

Incomplete returns from yesterday's voting placed Taft third behind Harold E. Stassen and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

Taft said in a statement:

"I am naturally disappointed about the primary results in Nebraska but shall always be deeply grateful to Senator Butler and so many others who supported me so loyally.

"Of course, Gov. Dawey carried the state in 1940 and Mr. Stassen in 1944 and it is evident we are too optimistic in thinking that a long-time strength could be offset by four days' campaigning in a distant state.

"The return engagement in Ohio on May 4 will produce the opposite result."

(Stassen has entered a partial slate of delegates in the primary in Taft's home state, but Dewey has not.)

Taft Assured Five Illinois Delegates

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, April 14—Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio will have the support of at least five Illinois delegates on the first presidential nominating ballot at the Republican national convention.

In a poll of the delegates elected in yesterday's primary, five said they would support Taft and 16 others favored Illinois Gov. Dwight H. Green. The remainder of the 52 delegates elected expressed no preference. Four additional delegates will be chosen by the party state convention May 10.

Picketing Abandoned At Ohio Power Plant

By The Associated Press

ZANESVILLE, O., April 14—Picketing of the Ohio Power company's Philo plant was abandoned yesterday shortly before Sheriff Harry Bealmer arrived with arrest orders for pickets.

Contempt of court orders were issued in Morgan county common pleas court when CIO utility workers union members refused to obey a temporary injunction prohibiting picketing. Weston A. Brown, plant superintendent, signed the affidavits. He said the men were from the company's other plants at Brilliant, O., and near Power, W. Va.

FARMERS WILL SEE PASTURE RECLAIMED

Demonstration Set in Morrow County April 22.

More than 1,000 farmers from Morrow county are expected to attend a demonstration of the trash-mulch method of pasture reclamation to be held on Thursday, April 22, at the John Irvine farm near Chesterville, according to C. H. Patzer, chairman of the board of supervisors of the Headwaters Soil Conservation District.

The demonstration, sponsored jointly by the Headwaters District and the Morrow county agricultural extension office, is being planned to show what can be done to rebuild worn out pasture in central Ohio. Twelve acres of rolling pasture land, which is so depleted that it will pasture only about two cows for part of the season, will be limed, fertilized, cultivated and seeded in one day. It is expected that within a year after treatment, the field will provide abundant pasture for 12 or more cows from early spring until late fall.

The trash-mulch method of pasture seeding involves the tearing up of present vegetation, leaving the residue on the surface to conserve soil and water. The soil is adequately limed and fertilized and a seeding mixture of alfalfa, red clover, ladino clover, bromegrass and timothy is made. One feature of the demonstration that will interest many farmers will be the use of many types and makes of farm machinery in preparing the soil. Farm implement dealers from all sections of the county will demonstrate nearly 40 pieces of farm equipment.

Committee chairmen have been named as follows: materials, Fred Brown; machinery, Scott Belt; fencing, William Reed; publicity, E. W. Dalrymple; parking, Sheriff Tom England; speaker, Elwood Davis; and coordinators, Hershel Hecker and Roy Roller.

Our Reputation For Reasonable Prices . . .
There are some sound reasons why Hughes Funeral Service has a reputation for reasonable prices. They give that reputation a firm foundation.
Personal management and careful buying are two of them. The result of this showed up when an auditing firm found our costs to be far lower than the average. Cost of operation, more than anything else, determines the charges that must be made.
If you would like detailed information on this point, please call for a frank discussion. We welcome inquiry about funeral service and its cost.

In Plain Words By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

TWO big differences: John L. Lewis and Judge T. Alan Goldsborough—and what they represent.

Lewis . . . .

Coal-miner, big, paunchy, bushy-haired, bass-drum voice, quick to anger, a face that clouds up fast. He's knocked men down with his fists.

The judge . . . .

Ex-congressman, almost bald, thin voice, a calm, pleasant face . . . He looks too mild to bean a fly with a law book.

He poured ice water over Lewis in 1946, cooled him plenty, may do it again.

James Marlow

The judge brought Lewis to trial today on a contempt of court charge.

More than a week ago another judge ordered Lewis to get his striking coal miners back to work. Lewis and the miners ignored him.

Then Lewis was ordered to court Monday to tell, if he could, why he shouldn't be tried for contempt for ignoring the order.

Then by accident—because of the way judges are rotated here—Judge Goldsborough was assigned to handle Lewis on Monday.

A few minutes before court time Monday Lewis ordered his men back to work. Too late. The judge told him he'd have to stand trial for contempt today.

In 1946 the same kind of thing happened, except then Judge Goldsborough told Lewis not to let his men go out on strike. They went. So Lewis ignored him.

THE JUDGE TRIED Lewis for contempt. Lewis argued the judge had no right to order men to work if they didn't want to. He'll argue that again.

That day in 1946 the judge listened to Lewis coolly, told him that as a citizen he should have obeyed the court first, argued about it later.

He found Lewis guilty. The penalty: A $10,000 fine for Lewis, a $3,500,000 fine for Lewis' union.

That day rage flamed up in Lewis. He rose and almost roared at the judge: ". . . You can fine me any amount . . ."

The judge looked straight at Lewis and without raising his voice warned him to be careful, that he could be found in contempt all over again.

Words froze in Lewis' throat, either because the judge had chilled him or his own lawyers, tugging on his coat, persuaded him to hush.

LEWIS WOULDN'T TAKE defeat like that. He appealed to the supreme court. The supreme court upheld the judge on all but one point. It cut the union's fine from $3,500,000 to $700,000.

The supreme court told Lewis what Goldsborough had told him: "You're supposed to obey a judge's order and argue about it later.

All his life Lewis has been one of the strong men of American labor, using the best weapon he knows to win his way: A strike.

Until the 1946 case Judge Goldsborough probably was little known outside Washington and the Maryland district he represented in congress.

Lewis represents 400,000 coal miners who have had to fight step by step for years to win better wages and working conditions.

The judge represents the law and, because of that, the 145,000,000 people in this country.

Lewis represents the right of anyone to challenge a law he doesn't like, to see whether it's a good law or applies to him.

The judge represents the might of the law in compelling anyone to obey it, or to pay the penalty for not obeying it.

TENDERFOOT CEREMONY HELD BY TROOP THREE

A tenderfoot investiture ceremony was held for eight Boy Scouts when Troop 3, Boy Scouts, of Epworth Methodist church met Monday night at the church. Special guests for the meeting were the Scouts of Troop 29, sponsored by Forest Lawn Presbyterian church, and of Troop 32, sponsored by the First Church of the Brethren, along with parents and friends. About 125 persons were present.

The eight Scouts honored in the ceremony were Jay Wyrick, Roger Kingsley, Roger Walraven, Paul Young, Don Byrd, Harold Hammond, Theodore Williams and Steve Lacey. Two other boys also earned the badges but were unable to be present. They are Murray Leeper, who is ill at home, and John Smith, who moved to Richwood recently.

Dick Bracy was awarded a cooking merit badge, and Orland Beveridge was awarded an assistant Scoutmaster's badge. Karl D. Bechtle, general chairman of Scouting in Epworth church, presided for the meeting.

Other officials present included Harold Bracy, neighborhood commissioner, Howard Herr Scoutmaster, Edward Hachten, assistant Scoutmaster, George Stafford, Ted McArthur and Roy Eaton, committee members.

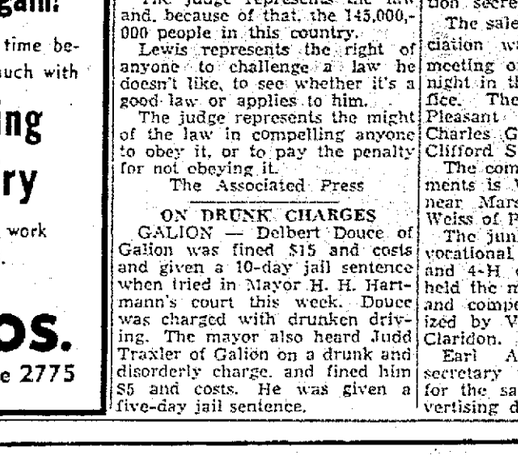
It Takes Men to Make Steel



and PROFITS to protect jobs

Jobs don't just grow. Jobs are made.

For when you're talking about jobs, you're talking about the equipment, machinery, buildings and materials that fit together to make a job. The cost averages about $6,400 per job.

And that's where the pinch comes!

Like every other dollar, the profit dollar has taken a licking. Its purchasing power . . . the "real profit" . . . has been seriously reduced.

When a steel company sets out today to buy a coke oven, this year's profit dollar buys only 40 cents worth of oven compared with 1938.

Steel profits on sales averaged 6.3 cents on the dollar last year.

Steel profits on investment averaged 9.4 cents on the dollar last year.

Steel profits are dangerously low measured against the cost of the things that create new jobs and support old ones.

There are 99 member companies of the Institute with plants in 364 American communities. They produce 94.6 percent of the country's steel.

Roving Reports

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

CRIPPLED Thomas Sugrue, who has taken more than a quart of cobra venom in the last nine years to still his pain, sat in a wheelchair today and talked of God.

"The most important thing in any man's life is his relationship with God," said the luminous-eyed little Irishman, "and this is inextricably bound up with the relation of every other man to God.

"Every man in a real sense is bound to his brother, and a man who arrived at heaven does so leaning on the arm of someone he has helped."

Hal Boyle

The phone rang. To answer it Sugrue put the receiver to his left ear with his right hand and held it with a hunched shoulder propped up with a wooden Chinese backscratcher.

Afterward he grinned and held up the backscratcher toy, which he uses as a kind of extended arm to rake things to him out of reach.

"It's a sort of insurance policy," he said, "If I didn't have it always handy my nose would itch."

The backscratcher is only a symbol of the way Tom Sugrue, ex-newspaperman and magazine writer, has had to adjust himself to life. He was stricken in 1937 at the age of 30 with a combination of arthritis, spinal meningitis and infantile paralysis. He has never walked since.

HE WENT TO FLORIDA, took fever treatments in which he spent days in a cabinet containing 80 light bulbs that heated his blood to 107 degrees. For two whole years he couldn't lie on his right side. In minute doses he has taken enough pain-killing cobra venom—it quiets the nerve ends—to kill three men, if given in mass injections.

"But sick or well, I had my living to make," he said. And he had a wife and daughter to support.

He wrote a novel, "Such is the Kingdom." He no longer could use a typewriter, and the doctor would let him write longhand only one hour a day.

"So I memorized it, doing the editing in my head," he said, "and managed to write 1,000 words each day during the one hour."

Then he learned to dictate. He wrote a biography, "There Is a River," and in 1946 he produced the best-selling "Starling of the White House." Last year, working with bandleader Eddie Condon, he dictated another best-seller, "We Called It Music," in three months.

NOW HE HAS completed his own autobiography, "Stranger In The Earth," a spiritually stirring story of one man's conquest of fear and pain and his search for God.

Sugrue believes that the purpose of "man's journey through creation is to discover the mind of God, piece by piece, and to know it eventually in its entirety, thus achieving a union or companionship with God."

He said that the evil man sets himself against the will of God, the mystic actively seeks God, "But most men just sit down and statically wait for Him to find them."

The free religious climate of America, he hopes, will produce "mystics in sufficient numbers to make this country into a spearhead for the world's salvation from international war and a new dark age.

"But I feel deeply that America must achieve a spiritual unity," he said, "It has been a pain within me ever since I can remember that, religiously, we are as broken and scattered as sawdust on a barroom floor."

A DISASTER to their health breaks the minds and spirits of most men. Sugrue appeared so serene and well armored in his courage, I asked him if he had found God himself.

"No, I have not found God," he said, "I have only gathered together some clues to what I trust may be the right direction. The discovery that has meant most to my life is that I am not constrained to sit with my eyes shut and arms folded, waiting for God to come to me—but that I am free to open my eyes, unfold my arms and go out and search for Him.

"I am completely happy. The mere discovery that I am free to move and search for God is all I need to keep me joyful for the rest of my days."

He smiled from the wheelchair.

The Body's Need for Protein

The body is like an engine in it cannot operate without Give it what it needs and forms its complicated tasks amazing perfection. Deprive some needed element, and it will go on for a time but greatly diminished effi-

Proteins are one of the substances most needed by the body. body cannot supply proteins itself. The food we eat must in them—food such as meat, eggs, and whole-grain ce- and, if it does not, the is are quickly noted in loss energy and endurance. Also, abundant vitality of health is replaced by a feeling of ral weakness and extreme ue. Climbing stairs, for in- produces a feeling of ness in the legs and tiredness out of all proportion to the effort. The heart beats slowly as a result of poor circulation. People suffering from lack of protein often feel cold. In many instances, there is also lessened resistance to infections.

In view of these important facts, we should all learn something about proteins and how to satisfy the body's need for them.

All proteins are made up of substances known as amino acids, some containing more, some less. Modern research has discovered that there are at least 10 different amino acids which the body must have for proper functioning, and all of these must be supplied by the protein foods we eat. Not one of them can be manufactured by the body for itself.

Hence, doctors rate proteins according to how many of these essential amino acids they furnish. Those which contain all ten are called complete proteins; those which do not are regarded as incomplete.

Proteins of greatest value to the body come from such foods as meat, milk, eggs, fish, fowl and cheese. Vegetable proteins, such as those from beans, peas, and whole-grain cereals, belong to the incomplete class. They are healthful but cannot be relied on alone to supply all ten amino acids which the body must have.

The moderately-active man needs about 70 grams of protein a day, while a woman requires about 60 grams. During pregnancy, about 80 grams are necessary. These amounts are supplied approximately by one average serving of meat, one egg, and three glassfuls of milk. Growing adolescents in their teens need between 80 and 100 grams of protein daily. How then is a person to get the required amount of protein?

It is a good idea to start with milk. The adult should take about a pint a day, and children and adolescents about a quart. Then, in addition, there should be one serving of about three ounces of meat and one serving of a whole-grain cereal, beans, or peas.

Severe protein deficiency does not develop very often except during certain diseases in which large amounts of protein may be lost from the body, such as in some kidney disorders. But unless we take care to eat enough of the right foods, a milder deficiency, which will yet be enough to sap strength and destroy efficiency, may creep up on us unawares.

It is possible to determine, by chemical test, the amount of protein circulating in the body. When such protein deficiency is found to be present, it should be corrected immediately, not only by an increase in the protein in the diet, but by blood transfusion, if necessary, or the use of what are known as protein hydrolysates. The latter are mixtures of the amino acids which make up the various proteins. There are also protein mixtures containing milk proteins and liver, which are quite useful in treatment of protein deficiency.

Questions and Answers

C.R.S, Does a brown, coated tongue mean anything?

A. A coated tongue sometimes results from constipation, while in many cases no cause for it can be discovered. If one is in good physical condition, and feels perfectly well, no attention should be paid to the fact that the tongue is coated.

Bauxite, an important ingredient of aluminum, was originally discovered at Les Beaux, France, from whence it derives its name.

such figures had no place in the case.

Goldsborough agreed there was something to Hopkins' argument.

But, he said, "insofar as the seriousness of the contempt is concerned, the issue is relevant." He let the figures stand in evidence.

Young said that from the production figures "it is reasonable to assume that during the work stoppage approximately 84 per cent of the miners left their employment."

Hopkins argued about that. He said Young was testifying on "presumption."

Testimony Admitted

Goldsborough said the "84 per cent" testimony was pertinent to the question of whether there had been an emergency affecting the national health or safety. He allowed it to stand.

The Taft-Hartley act permits 80-day injunctions against strikes only if they imperil the "national health or safety."

Young's figures showed soft coal production in the week ending March 13 was 13,314,000 tons and in the week ending April 3 had dropped to 2,135,000 tons.

Goldsborough said that showed somebody had quit work.

"Of course if there's less coal being produced, there's nobody in the mines digging coal," Goldsborough commented.

"That is unless they're loafing."

Young said he figured that within three days after the walkout began more than 239,000 miners were idle.

Next Young gave figures on the gradual depletion of coal supplies while the miners were idle.

Objects to "Strike"

Once Young used the word "strike." Hopkins bounced up with a protest. So Young changed to "work stoppage."

The judge also would not permit Young to say that a stoppage had been called." Instead, he directed that Young's statement read "took place."

The judge called a brief recess when Young's testimony ended.

Many Idle, Awaiting Decision on Lewis

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, April 14—More than half the nation's 400,000 soft coal miners, resisting a back-to-work movement, today waited to see "what happens to John L. Lewis" before they return to the pits.

Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, is being tried in federal court today, for the second time in two years, on contempt of court charges.

This time, Lewis is accused of failing to act promptly when ordered on April 5 to send the miners back to work. On that date, they had been out three weeks in a demand for $100 monthly pensions. This demand has since been granted and more than 150,000 of the diggers are back in the mines.

Many other miners have adopted a wait-and-see attitude about resuming work. Several union locals have scheduled meetings to be held after Judge Goldsborough makes his ruling.

Silver Street P.-T.A. Maps Future Program

Dates of future activities of the Silver Street P.-T. A. were announced at a meeting Tuesday night at the school. A pre-school clinic will be held Wednesday morning, April 28, at the school, and a "county fair" carnival event sponsored by the P.-T. A. will be held at the school Thursday night, April 22. Mrs. Lawrence Morse presided for business. The program centering around the pre-school clinic idea, included showing of a motion picture, "When Bobby Goes to School," by Miss Inez Kraner, school nurse. Devotions were conducted by Clyde Tumbleson, and music was by a toy band composed of pupils of three first grade classes of the school taught by Miss Maude Alter, Mrs. Laura Carter and Mrs. Emily Wolf.

WARRANT RECALLS DALTON BOYS' END

By The United Press

TULSA, Okla. — A piece of ... now in the hands of a Tulsa ... has added a new chapter to ... saga of the Dalton Boys, one ... the old West's most notorious ... gangs.

... paper is a warrant for the ... of the three Dalton brothers ... of their companions who ... a trail of stage, train and ... robberies across Oklahoma ... Kansas.

... the warrant served its pur... the bloody end of the Dal... gang at Coffeyville, Kan., ... never have come to pass.

... tied into historical records of ... outlaws, the warrant shows ... a U. S. deputy marshal wan... ... from place to place for two ... ths in an effort to serve the ... rant. The warrant charged ... Dalton, Emmett Dalton, Grat Dalton and five others with the $ 1,000 robbery of a Wells Fargo Express Co. office at Red Rock, Okla.

The marshal was Bill Tilghman, whose reputation as a competent ... officer was widespread. In August 1892 a U. S. commissioner for the Oklahoma Territory handed him the warrant.

What happened during the next two months is not known but for a report scrawled on the warrant, and signed by Tilghman. It says: "...endeavored with great diligence to execute the same by proceeding to the Creek (Indian) Nation and divers other places and hereby make due return hereon as not being able to find the within defendants."

Shooting Recalled

On Oct. 5, 1892, the Daltons rode into Coffeyville. Bob and Emmett visited the First National Bank, and escaped with $23,000. At the same time, Grat Dalton, with henchmen Bill Powers and Dick Broadwell, went to the Condon National Bank. There a teller stalled them long enough for Coffeyville citizens to be alerted.

A party of vigilantes surrounded the bank. The Daltons were trapped. Powers and Broadwell reached their horses, mounted, but were cut down before they could get away.

In the same alley, Bob and Grat Dalton were riddled with bullets as they vainly tried to reach their horses. Emmett Dalton, still in his teens, was seriously wounded.

Coffeyville residents show visitors the alley where the furious shooting match took place.

Musgrave said after answering a clipping from a homemaker's column in a magazine "I proposed by mail" and got the right answer from Mrs. Pence.

SALARY ORDINANCE RULED OFF BALLOT

Galion Council Nulled It, Prosecutor Points Out.

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, April 14 — Basing his ruling on Ohio's general code, Prosecutor Leo J. Scanlon of Crawford county today ruled that the ordinance dealing with the Galion service-safety director's salary dispute, should not be submitted to a vote of Galion electors.

The petition for referendum vote on the ordinance was circulated by objectors to the $600 monthly salary to be paid to Floyd Porter, appointee of Mayor H. H. Hartmann. The ordinance has since been revoked.

Meanwhile a court action filed by a taxpayer seeking an injunction to restrain the city of Galion from employing Porter at the stipulated salary is under advisement in the court of Common Pleas Judge C. U. Ahl.

The ordinance was passed on Feb. 3, but after Drouth circulated his referendum petition city council repealed the ordinance and then passed another creating the same position and at the some salary, it can not be placed on the ballot, the prosecutor said.

The question which was given a hearing on March 29 before Judge Ahl was whether or not John F. Porter who was named to the service-safety director post, was legally appointed to the post before he was a Galion elector. He came to Galion in February from Troy. Responsibility for court costs and attorney fees will be decided by the judge.

Accident Victim Still in Hospital

Mrs. Bertha Hacker of near Cardington, injured in an automobile accident Monday at 3 p. m. when a car driven by her husband, Charles Hacker, figured in a collision with one driven by Lloyd Howard of McGuffy, is reported by City hospital attendants to be in fairly good condition. Mrs. Hacker suffered bruises and chest injuries in the accident. It was erroneously reported in The Star yesterday that she had been treated and released.

CHURCH BELL ON DISPLAY AFTER 150-YEAR SERVICE

SHEPHERDSTOWN, W. Va.,— A bell which has hung in the tower of Christ Evangelical and Reformed Church here more than 150 years has moved front and center in local interest.

Smallest of a peal of four brought from Germany just after the American Revolution, the bell has been placed in the vestibule as part of an exhibit commemorating the church's bicentennial.

The bells were brought here by Michael Yessley, a pioneer who made a special trip to Germany and bought them with silver buckles and other articles donated by the congregation. Legends say that Napoleon had taken the bells to Germany.

SEVEN ESCAPE INJURY

An automobile driven by Merile Knoop, 17, of Prospect, in which six other young people were riding, knocked over 20 feet of fence and a utility pole at 11 o'clock last night on route 4, six and a half miles south of Marion. None was injured. Knoop was blinded by the lights of an approaching vehicle the state highway reported. Another car driven by John Owen, 17, of 758 Congress street, with three teen-age passengers, narrowly missed being involved in the accident when the car stalled on the highway after turning at the State Park on route 4. Knoop said he drove to the right in passing and his car swerved and went across the road, striking the fence, the state highway patrol reported.

ALL-NIGHT RIDING, HURT

BUCYRUS, April 14 — Mrs. Louise Belmont, 42, New York City, was treated in City hospital early Tuesday for injuries to her mouth and chin received when the car in which she was riding with two New York male companions, sideswiped a parked car on route 30N. The two men were uninjured. The trio told police they had been driving all night. Police said the driver apparently fell asleep.

"KEEP SAVING USED FATS!

... It's a Habit That Pays"

"My conscience wouldn't let me throw out even a drop of used fats when I know they're still needed so badly. Why, today's shortage of fats and oils is still very serious, our government says.

"I really get a kick out of seeing how much extra fat I can save . . . by melting down trimmings, skimming gravies, really scraping pans. I re-use it, certainly. But there's always something left to make saving worth while!

"Have you ever stopped to think that used fats are the only kitchen waste that can be turned into cash? That's a good point to remember in these days of higher food costs."

UN PLANS OPENING OF AMAZON JUNGLE

By The Associated Press

RIO DE JANEIRO — Modern science is ready to open up the world's last great wilderness, the Amazon jungle of South America. This dense and trackless area, nearly 4,000,000 square miles, will be studied by experts from the United Nations education, scientific and cultural organization (UNESCO).

They hope to collect information not only to develop this vast, unknown region but also to improve living conditions in other tropical areas. The scientists plan to set up an international institute of the hylean (forested) Amazon at Manaus, Brazil, in the center of the Amazon forests.

The institute is being established in cooperation with Brazil, Colombia, Bolivia, Ecuador, Peru, Venezuela, the United States and the mother countries of the three Guianas, France, England and The Netherlands. A preliminary meeting was held last August at Belem, Brazil, at the mouth of the Amazon. The cooperating scientists now plan to meet for organization and financing of the institute and mapping of their first surveys of the region. They will gather at Tingo Maria, Peru, April 30, in the area where the mighty Amazon, called the world's greatest river, rises. From there they will go northeastward to Iquitos, Peru. From Iquitos they plan to fly eastward into Brazil to Manaus where plans will be made for studies to be carried out this year in geology, botany, anthropology, agriculture and Indian life.

UNESCO already has appropriated $100,000, but continuing financial support is expected to come from the interested countries. Studies will be made only with the approval and support of each country involved. Scientific personnel will be selected through UNESCO. Two permanent field officers already have been appointed. Dr. E. J. H. Corner, England, former director of the Singapore botanical gardens, is principal field officer. Dr. Basil Malamos, Greece, a specialist in tropical diseases, is assisting him.

New York Stock Quotations

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 14—Selected leaders retreated in today's stock market although changes were generally narrow and some issues showed slight gains.

Aircraft shares continued to improve. Dealings slowed somewhat after a moderately active opening. Near midday small advances and declines were widely distributed.

Commission houses attributed many selling orders to belief further corrective moves were called for by the list's long advance, and to a "wait-and-see" attitude on the Italian election and domestic wage-price relationships.

Depressed at times were U. S. Steel, General Motors, Montgomery Ward, Cerro DePasco (on a dividend reduction), International Nickel, New York Central, Santa Fe, International Paper and Public Service of N. J. Resistant were Grumman, Douglas Aircraft, Boeing, United Aircraft, Curtiss-Wright, Caterpillar Tractor, J. I. Case, U. S. Gypsum and Westinghouse Electric.

Bonds were narrow and commodities irregular.

Almond Hulls Found To Be Useful as Food

By The United Press

BERKELEY, Calif.—Dried almond hulls may be used in two new ways, according to Dr. W. V. Cruess, University of California food technologist.

Cruess said the hulls may be used in table syrup and crude molasses for livestock feed. He pointed out that a ton of hulls will produce about 800 pounds of refined dry matter, worth about $60, which can be processed into at least 100 gallons of syrup or molasses.

He said that besides syrup, the hulls have commercial possibilities as a source of tannin extract for tanning leather, but they are a money loser, except for the largest distillers, if converted into brandy or alcohol.

SALES OF $71,682,179 LISTED BY DETROLA

Marion Plant Is Division of Detroit Corporation.

Consolidated net profit of International Detrola Corp. in 1947 was $1,379,139.10, equal to $1.13 per share, President C. Russell Feldmann announced today in the company's annual report for the fiscal year ended Oct. 31. The profit was slightly less than two per cent of sales. The Universal Cooler plant of Marion is a division of International Detrola.

Sales were $71,682,179.65, compared to $40,810,028.22 in 1946. The 1947 sales figures includes for the first time a full 12 months sales of the steel division and includes only nine months' sales of Universal Cooler Co. of Canada, Ltd., a subsidiary consolidated Feb. 3, 1947.

Net profit did not increase in full proportion to sales, Feldmann said, due to a loss in the radio division and starting costs of a blast furnace acquired and renovated in the summer of 1946. All other divisions contributed to the profit.

The Newport Rolling mill division, which includes the corporation's steel plants and coal mine, had sales of $25,139,735.70, equal to 35 per cent of the company's total business volume, with divisions in refrigeration, radio, aircraft, and machinery following in that order.

Feldmann's letter accompanying the report disclosed that additions being made to International's steel-making capacity will involve outlays of $6,000,000.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

I WAS conscious that my stare at Georges was more of a goggle. I thought that I had "heard everything" from him, but I now came to the conclusion that in the words of an old cook of Lillian's I "hadn't heard nuthin' yet."

"What on earth do you mean, Georges" I asked, if possible feighning even more bewilderment than was mine.

He looked at me as if I suddenly had lost my mind. He was so full of his problem that he thought everyone else must know all about it.

"Don't you know? You must know," he faltered.

"I haven't the slightest idea what you mean," I said, "and I'm not going to listen to you until you are seated, and have pulled yourself together.

"There, that's better," I added, as he slumped onto the seat opposite mine to which I had pointed. "Now, don't say a word for at least a minute, and try to get your thoughts into coherent working order. Also, be very sure you want to confide in me. There are things you should keep to yourself. No," I said, as he opened his lips to protest, "don't speak for sixty seconds. Just relax! I'll keep track of the time."

I raised my left arm a bit ostentatiously—Georges needed plenty of gestures, I decided grimly—and watched the wrist watch while a minute ticked away into eternity. Then I lowered my arm again.

"All right," I told him, "I'm ready to listen. But, I am afraid I am very dense today. Please tell me exactly what is troubling you."

"I must tell you something else first," he said. "I must pour out to you the gratitude I feel for saving me from lifelong unhappiness, and the woman I love from unbearable humiliation. If Olina had come out here, expecting a wedding."

"Why torture yourself with that now, Georges?" I asked. "You have seen the truth, and in the old words, 'the truth has made you free.' You now are free to marry Olina, with nothing on your conscience, and I am sure, when Mary hears what I have to tell her—I am going to say that you sent her a message deeply regretting having written the letters, and asking her to forget them—I am sure she will burn the letters, forget all about them, and never tell her husband anything about them."

An odd, inscrutable expression flashed into his eyes, and I wondered wearily if his egotism was protesting the thought of Mary's burning his "sacred" letters. But at his next words, I saw that he was pursuing another angle.

"Do you approve of that?" he said.

"Of what?" I answered, purposely dense.

"Of her keeping those letters a secret from her husband?"

"Why not?" I answered with far more carelessness than I felt, for I do not keep secrets from Dicky. "If those letters were the result of some fault of Mary's, then naturally she would feel in honor bound to tell him of them. But they were entirely unsolicited, she resented them, and she felt that some plan of yours—she did not know what—was behind them. Therefore she naturally planned to tell her husband and ask his protection against you. But now that need is over."

Georges was wincing perceptibly now, but I hurried on, apparently unnoticing.

"The only reason she hesitated about telling her husband long before this, was because she feared the news of the letters would rouse one of his old temper tantrums which he has conquered so efficiently. Now, I shall tell her that you simply wished her forgiveness for your rudeness, and shall advise her never to mention the incident to Noel."

Georges stared at me.

"I wonder what you will say," he stammered, "when I tell you that I am trying to find words to write Olina of the wrong I unwittingly have done her."

Owner of Dallas Rebels Wants An All Dallas Team

By The Associated Press

DALLAS — The ambition of President George Schepps of the Dallas club of the Texas league is to have a Dallas ball club. By that he means a team made up entirely of Dallas products.

Last year he had three Dallas boys playing much of the time. They were Quentin Altizer, pitcher; Bob Finley, catcher, and Johnny Creel, outfielder. Hank DeBerry, scout for the New York Yankees, noted them one night and said this was unheard of in fast professional baseball.

Schepps says just wait until 1951; he expects to have an entire team of local talent by that time. A check-up shows that Finley is not with the club but Creel and Altizer are still here along with five other Dallas youngsters, including Earl York, optioned to Dallas this year by the Chicago Cubs. Schepps also has Red Borom, a Georgian by birth but now a permanent resident and property owner in Dallas.

The Dallas club prexy points to Heinz Becker and H. K. Perry; now with Milwaukee and Buffalo respectively, as proof that Dallas kids can play baseball as well as anybody. He had both of them on his club until they earned promotion to higher company.

Schepps says he has no desire to lower the grade of baseball by pushing his home-town idea. He subscribes to the theory that a lot of ball players are born but more can be made by proper encouragement and practice. And he contends that the schoolboys of Dallas are far ahead of those in any other city in the diamond game. Baseball is big stuff in Dallas high schools.

Another point: Schepps says nothing could do more to revive civic interest and home-town pride, cornerstones of minor league baseball, than the development of local talent.

Smitty's Maids Win Cage Finale, 31-20

Smitty's Maids ended their basketball season on a winning note last night at the YMCA before a packed house, dumping the all colored girls team from Columbus, 31-20.

Miss Wright with 13 points and Miss Mochel with 12 were leading scorers for Smitty's while Miss Hawkins paced the Novelty Food Bar team with seven points.

The Maids kept a safe margin in a thriller contest with the scrappy Novelty gals and were never in danger of defeat except for a few minutes in the final stanza when the Columbus quint drew within five points on three fast goals. Betty Cook eased the situation with two sensational shots from the field to quench the threat.

The Novelty girls, keen competitors, will probably visit Marion again during the summer to battle the Maids in a softball game.

Chisox Resigned To Berth In AL's Second Division

By BOB MYERS
Ap Sports Writer

PASADENA, Calif.—There is a familiar lack of Chicago White Sox achievements in the 1947 record books, and unless something most unusual takes place, a similar situation will prevail in 1948.

Rightfielder Taft Wright hammered the ball for a .324 average, veteran Luke Appling kept rolling right along at shortstop and hit a lively .306, and Lefthander Ed Lopat led the club with a splendid mark of 16 games won and 13 lost. Their efforts were the main reason the Sox finished as well as they did, which was sixth place. Wright is back, and so is Luke, and both should be as good or better, but Lopat was traded to the high riding New York Yankees, who needed a first class pitcher a lot less than the White Sox do.

However, all is not complete gloom in the Chisox camp, and the boys think they might improve a little in the American league scramble this time—perhaps fifth. Manager Ted Lyons has high hopes that the Yankee deal might turn into a pleasant surprise, for in exchange he received a good hitting catcher in Aaron Robinson, and two pitching propects he thinks might make up for the loss of his erstwhile star hurler. The rookies are righthander Fred Bradley, who won 13 and lost four with Kansas City last year, and Lefty Bill Wight, a 16-9 hurler with one of the best earned run averages in the American association.

TED LYONS

With the notable exception of Wright, the outfield could use more punch, but again Lyons has hopes with the recall from Hollywood, with whom the South Siders have a working agreement, of Gus Zernial, who clipped the ball for .344, and Jimmy Delsing, who batted .316. Delsing particularly was regarded as a likely prospect a year ago, and the Sox somewhat reluctantly farmed him out for more seasoning. There is also Grover Bowers, who swatted .375 in 140 games for Gadsden, Ala., last year, and a youngster from Waterloo, Ia., who hit .339, Gerard Scala. The holdovers include Ralph Hodgin, Bob Kennedy and Wright.

Jimmy Delsing

Tony Lupien, waved out of the American league and picked up by the Phillies in 1944, and then released, is back for another try after establishing himself as one of the outstanding first basemen and hitters (.341) with Hollywood in 1947. Floyd Baker, good field-no hit, is back at third, Appling, backed up by rangy Jack Wallaesa, at short, and Cass Michaels and Don Kolloway will divide second base honors.

Return Match, Lady Grapplers on Card

Les Fishbaugh, wrestling promoter, confided he has a lulu of a program lined-up for this Thursday's grapple contests at the Armory, which will include a two-hour main match, a 90-minute go between gal grapplers and a 10-minute preliminary.

Gene Blakely and Steve Nenoff, who wrestled to a draw last week for possession of the championship junior heavyweight belt, will be pitted again this week. Violet Vian of Kansas City, Missouri and Elvery Snodgrass, hill billy wrestler from Tennessee will give the feminine touch to the Armory card Thursday.

Two contestants are yet to be matched in a paperweight duel in the program opener.

Joe Louis Discloses He Expects To Stiffen Walcott Next June

By LAWTON CARVER
INS Sportswriter

NEW YORK, April 14—At a tea and crumpet party arranged to signalize his return from London, Joe Louis disclosed that he expects to stiffen Jersey Joe Walcott next June in about the same length of time needed to write these few words.

The heavyweight champion said he would fight in this return match exactly as he did in his encore with Max Schmeling after losing a first meeting with the German by a knockout.

Louis says he has promised himself to go all out this time to wipe out the two knockdowns and the closeness of his victory in the previous clash with Walcott.

Lost Split Decision

The latter lost a split decision in a none-too-interesting fight. Walcott marked Louis up around the face and slightly embarrassed the champion at odd moments by landing quick stabs from a style composed mainly of frenzied back-pedaling.

Louis and Walcott both talked freely at the welcome home party arranged for the benefit of Sydenham hospital's fund drive, but they didn't talk at the same time.

In fact, there seems to be a slight chill between the champion and the challenger.

In reply to Louis' confident prediction, Walcott simply chuckled and muttered that Louis was entitled to one man's opinion.

The burden of proof will be on Walcott this time. As good as some thought he fought last time, Walcott still didn't win and he must fight still better.

Better Condition

Walcott appears to be in much better condition though older than the champion. How much older nobody seems to know for sure.

Walcott looked trim and fine at the party. He's staying in shape for the return battle.

Louis has sprouted a mustache, which detracts from his appearance as a fighter, and his characteristically fat face is fatter than ever before. He is heavy around the jowls and soft-looking, although he insists he lost weight in his London exhibitions.

His poundage is said to be above 220. He refused to discuss this and merely insisted that he will be in shape for the June 25 battle.

He added significantly or otherwise:

"I had an off-night the last time—but it won't happen again."

The champion plans to begin working lightly immediately to get himself in top shape. He believes the exhibitions in England and a couple of months of light, then heavy work will put him as close to his peak as a fighter of 34 can possibly be.

Greenberg May Open Tribe Seasc As First Playing Vice Pr

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA, Kan., April 14—Hank Greenberg, the big swivel chair man, may become the first "playing vice pr baseball history at the Cleveland Indians' opener next Tu

The veteran home run slugger, who has insisted he "only in an emergency," was faced with that emergency i of his chattels today as the injury plague hit the tribe.

Eddie Robinson, a key man in the Tribe's 1948 pennant hopes, was lost from the Indians' first base roster last night when he took a plane to Cleveland for examination and treatment of an injured right foot. Robbie and sub first sacker Elbie Fletcher have only two good feet among them at the moment, for Fletcher also is crippled with a bruised left foot.

Indians' Manager Lou Boudreau immediately put through an emergency call to Greenberg's "front office"—the Cleveland dugout. The versatile executive-player-coach, who wants to scrape his spikes on a mahogany desk instead of home plate, protected his stockholder's interest by starting two rallies in Cleveland's 7-2 win over the New York Giants yesterday.

V.P. Greenberg's walks opened a four-run spree in the fourth frame and a three-run rally in the fifth, and Hank trotted home with two important runs in his quest to increase the value of his Tribe stock.

Greenberg has been in tip-top condition for his "trouble shooter" role—and Boudreau plans to keep him that way. Hank was slated to park his high-priced heels on the initial sack here today, at Evansville, Ind., tomorrow and Owensboro, Ky., Friday. He will be ready, he says, if Robinson is unable to start next Tuesday.

However, Boudreau joined Greenberg in the hope that Hank could continue his duties on the mahogany, instead of the willow, after the season opens.

Cincinnati Reds, Boston Red Sox Play Last Exhibition Game Today

By The Associated Press

ROANOKE, April 14—The Cincinnati Reds and the Boston Red Sox stopped off here today for the Reds' last major league exhibition before the National league opener next Monday.

The Reds used a big inning yesterday at Durham, N. C., to hand an 8-6 victory over the Bosox. Both clubs collected 15 hits, but the Reds hammered Mickey Harris for seven runs in three innings, four coming in the third.

Tommy Hughes and Howard Fox supervised the Red mound work, with Harris, Earl Johnny and Danny Galehouse hurling for Boston.

Frankie Baumholtz singled twice and doubled to lead the attack as eight Redlegs moved into the hit column. Centerfielder John Wyrostek got the only homer, a 280-foot smash in the four-run third. The Boston hits were confined to five players with Dom DiMaggio collecting four of them.

Manager Johnny Neun has registered some concern about his Redleg pitching. Of his newcomers the score runs something like this:

Howard Fox has looked very good, and appears to be a cinch for one of the starting spots. With Bud Lively and Herman Wehmeier, it appears to be a question of control—in their last two appearances, both have lacked some of the necessary control. Kent Peterson has lacked the strength to go the distance, while Eddie Erautt seems to have lost some of his confidence.

Harry Gumbert, the 40-year-old fireman, has indicated Neun need not worry about the relief chores. Both Harry and Bucky Walters also are generous about passing pitching ups to the younger hurlers.

Ewell Blackwell was back in uniform after being out because of a stiff neck. He said the stiffness is gone and he'll be in shape to meet the Pittsburgh Pirates next Monday. He also is slated to work three innings against Syracuse either Friday or Saturday.

Dark Horses Appear In North-South Open

By The Associated Press

PINEHURST, N. C., April 14—Before the 46th annual North and South women's golf tournament got underway, locker room oracles had placed national amateur champion Louise Suggs of Atlanta and Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page of Chapel Hill in the finals.

But as the field teed off today for the second round of match play numerous dark horses had come into contention, giving rise to the suspicion that the favorites parade may be detoured.

To be sure, Miss Suggs and Mrs. Page had done all that was required of them to date but there were others in the field of 16 who had played well enough to stamp themselves as definite threats.

Peggy Kirk, No. 2 alternate on the Curtis Cup team followed her 72 medal score with another impressive performance yesterday. The Findlay, Ohio, girl with the friendly smile defeated Jane Martin of Pittsburgh, 3 and 4. She fired a 38 on the way out, one over par for the 6,142 yard No. 2 course which has a women's par of 74 for the front tees. After clinching the match on the 14th she played it out for a model 78.

Mrs. Edwin Longcope of Bronxville, N. Y., turned in the day's chief surprise, a 3 and 2 decision over Jean Hopkins of Cleveland, third Curtis Cup alternate.

Other players not commanding the attention given the favored few, but among the better performers today, were former Ohioan Mrs. J. D. Platt of Pinehurst and Carol Diringer, Tiffin, O.

Wrestlers of Cornell (Iowa) college have defeated the West Point matmen six straight times.

Washington Has a Magician for Manager, But He Can't Pull Players Out of a Hat

By FRANK ECK
Associated Press Sportswriter

ORLANDO, Fla.—The Washington Senators have a magician for a manager but it's going to take more than Joe Kuhel's clever manipulations with rabbits and cards to pull the Nats out of the second division hole.

Kuhel, former Senator and White Sox first baseman, is a member of the American Society of Magicians but even that won't help him during his first season as a big league pilot.

He may be able to put the whammy on opposing pitchers but it's hitting the Nats lack, to say nothing of what appears to be a minor league infield save for first base where Mickey Vernon has a strangle hold on the bag. Kuhel managed Hot Springs, Ark., to fifth place in the class C Cotton States league for the Chicago White Sox last season.

Top Hitter Bats .269

The current Washington roster shows the team's top hitter to be Tom McBride, who hit only .269. Even Vernon, who belted the ball at a .353 clip to top the American league in 1946, fell off to .265 last season. Besides, Stan Spence was traded to the Boston Red Sox during the winter and Buddy Lewis, Cecil Travis, and George Case have retired from the game. The team finished seventh last year, 33 games off the pace.

Kuhel will have the same pitchers who started games for Ossie Bluege last season. Bluege now is farm director for the Senators. Back on the firing line is Early Wynn, a first class pitcher who won 17 games, Mickey Haefner, Walt Masterson, Sid Hudson and Ray Scarborough. Behind them are Milo Candini, Marino Pieretti, Scott Cary, Bill Dozier, relief artist Tom Ferrick and a half dozen tossers up from the minors.

"I'm going with Gil Coan in left field," says Kuhel. "Coan has been up twice before. He's only 24 and this may be the year for him to make the grade. He hit .340 for Chattanooga in the Southern association."

New Washington Manager Joe Kuhel, right, discussing Nat prospects with two of team's few real "pros"—pitcher Early Wynn, left, and first baseman Mickey Vernon.

"Sherry Robertson looks like my right fielder but in center the job is wide open between Leon Culberson, Tom McBride and Earl Wooten. Larry Drake, who hits a long ball, looks good and we may find a spot for him. In the infield, Vernon is the only one set." Kuhel plans to go with John Sullivan at short. He hit .256 in 49 games last year. Second base appears a battle between Al Kozar, who hit .339 at New Orleans, and Ed Lyons, .295 hitter from Chattanooga. Veteran Mark Christman will be retained in a utility role for he has played every infield position but first base. Kuhel is going along at third base with Eddie Yost, 21-year-old Long Island lad. How long he holds the job depends on his hitting for he batted only .238 in 115 games last season.

Ring Deaths Spur Action of Boxing Commissions for Safety Measures

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 14—Spurred into action by two ring deaths within a week early this year, boxing commissions throughout the country are applying new safety measures to the sport.

Seven states where boxing thrives—California, Illinois, Washington, Massachusetts, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania and New York—recently have taken steps to protect fighters.

Others have changes under consideration.

Most of the tighter regulations follow, in part, the 23-point program recommended last month by the National Boxing association.

They call for heavier gloves, stricter examinations and suspension of fighters who hit the deck too regularly. A popular change is the rule requiring an eight-count after each knockdown regardless of how eager the victim is to resume the fray.

The safety measures began mushrooming after the death in Chicago of Sam Baroudi following a bout with Ezzard Charles Feb. 20 and the fatality a week later of Leroy DeCatur in Hollywood, Calif.

Washington, Wisconsin and California have all adopted the eight-count knockdown rule. Washington and Wisconsin have decided that a fighter who has been knocked out must remain on the shelf for 30 days and then undergo a strict examination before entering the ring again.

Washington's state athletic commission, acting yesterday, also made changes calling for suspension of any fighter knocked out six times in a row or six times within six months.

Wisconsin and California ruled all pro fighters must wear eight-ounce gloves and California declared amateurs must carry padding up to 12 ounces in the heavier classes.

Pennsylvania, besides favoring the 30-day layoff for a kayoed boxer and the eight-count knockdown rule, is toying with the idea of providing free insurance for fighters, providing hospitalization and medical care in case of injury and a cash payment in case of death.

New York passed a bill requiring fingerprinting of applicants for professional boxing and wrestling licenses. The measure covers boxers, managers and trainers.

The National Boxing association has urged member states to fix penalties on promoters and managers who fail to live up to their "obligations" in ring safety.

Big Seven Expected To Dominate Kansas Relays

By The Associated Press

LAWRENCE, Kas., April 14—The Big Seven conference is expected to make its usual successful raid on Kansas Relays championships in the twenty-third running of the track and field carnival Saturday.

The former Big Six circuit, which in 1932 produced Olympic decathlon champion in Jim Bausch of Kansas university and a host of other stars in the world's games, will be paced by the conference champion Missouri Tigers.

But Harrison Dillard of Baldwin-Wallace is considered an almost sure thing in the 120-yard high hurdles, through Missouri's Bud Gartiser, conference indoor record hurdler, could make a race of it.

The 400 meter hurdles also will have a power boy in Gunther Kaizmar of Baldwin-Wallace.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY

By AP Newsfeatures

ARNOLD TOYNBEE born April 14, 1889, in London, England, attracted attention of both scholars and laymen with his monumental study of history and its clusions as to why civilizations rise and fall.

Six of the volumes are finished; three are yet to appear.

A one-volume nbridgement of the work by David Somervell has become a best-seller.

Arnold Toynbee

Townbee, for years research professor of international history at the University of London, recently visited the United States.

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

The Russians have dug up a Rachmaninoff piano score for six hands . . . Now they're trying to dig up a Russian with six hands to play it.

* * *

Rachmaninoff is not living, so if the Soviet cultural body doesn't like the composition they will have to try him in absentia . . . And it's a nice way to be tried.

* * *

The work will be performed soon in Russia and when it comes over here it will be for eight hands . . Six playing and two standby.

* * *

In fact, I hear Petrillo is green with envy and keeps going around saying, "Why didn't I think of that."

* * *

The closest we came to three men on a piano was the WPA production of three men on a shovel . . . One to load, one to lean and one to look.

I'm working now on a successor to "I'm looking over a four-leaf clover" to be called "I'm looking into a three-ball pawnshop that I overlooked before."
